Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-8 are allowed.

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: while the prior art of record may teach a device for applying controlled and adjustable compression to a limb comprising a tubular sleeve, a plurality of inflatable balloons and means for inflating each of the balloons, the prior art of record fails to teach or render obvious a tubular sleeve comprising an anterior portion of inextensible or relatively inextensible material, and a posterior portion of relative extensible material, the two portions being connected together substantially along two generator lines of the tubular sleeve forming connection generator lines ; and a plurality of inflatable balloons are disposed on the inside face of the anterior portion of the tubular sleeve along a generator line thereof situated at an intermediate position between the two connection generator lines between the two portions of the tubular sleeve, and further including means for inflating each of the balloons in differing manner to respective given pressures, so as to apply deformation to the anterior portion of the sleeve that is suitable for inducing a traction force exerted on the extensible posterior portion, said force being distributed regularly along the connection generator lines and acting perpendicularly to said generator lines, said traction force thus giving rise to compression action on the compressible region of the limb.
